

The illustration depicts a magical scene where a young boy with red hair and a blue jacket, and a young girl with blonde hair in a purple dress, are holding hands. They stand before a massive, ancient tree whose trunk is hollowed out, revealing a bright, golden light that flows upwards like a waterfall. The tree's roots are thick and gnarled, spreading across a lush green field dotted with small white and yellow flowers. In the background, rolling green hills lead down to a blue sea under a soft, hazy sky. A few sheep are grazing in the distance. The overall atmosphere is one of wonder and discovery.
